As we all face the growing challenges and uncertainty created by the coronavirus (COVID19), we want to update our customers on our business operations here at Kem Medical Products.

Kem Medical is continuing to operate business as usual. We have taken measures and implemented active precautions to keep everyone healthy per the CDC recommendations.

Assuming there are no forced shutdowns, we are on track to make all customer orders.

We are closely monitoring the situation and will keep you updated of any potential impact on our business operations during this unprecedented time.

Stay healthy and safe!
